dawn of a new day

Introducing The Spires - a vibrant new residential development and the start of a new community for Coventry.

This collection of 2, 3 and 4-bedroom homes represents a new chapter for Coventry's housing market, offering exceptional contemporary living for local first-time buyers and families through affordable home ownership schemes including Shared Ownership. Sitting at the heart of the iconic Midlands city, The Spires will be an extension of the local community - a new neighbourhood offering new opportunities for residents to thrive.

a breath of fresh air

Welcome to Coventry

The Spires sits within Stoke Aldermoor, a suburban neighbourhood in Coventry and part of the larger Stoke area - one of the most diverse areas in the city and home to a number of vital heritage buildings including Stoke House (renamed to Eden House) and Park Cottage.

Coventry itself represents one of the most iconic cities in the West Midlands - a fusion of traditional charm and modern amenities that saw it named the UK's 'City of Culture' in 2021. While historically known as a cornerstone of the British car industry - home to brands such as Jaguar and Triumph - it's now a welcoming city anchored by strong educational links, great connectivity and plenty of things to see and do.

Coventry is the most central city in England and has exceptional links across the country, with Birmingham, Leicester and Warwick all within 25 miles. In terms of price, Coventry houses for sale tend to be more affordable than those in Birmingham and Warwick, with average property prices similar to that of Leicester.

Coventry - and by design The Spires - is inherently driven by the local community, a fact epitomised by the independent retailers and sporting organisations that make up this vibrant city.

Coventry - and by design The Spires - is inherently driven by the local community, a fact epitomised by the independent retailers and sporting organisations that make up this vibrant city.

FarGo epitomises this independence more than any other - a re-purposed industrial space at the heart of the city crammed with fiercely independent businesses - from craft breweries and artisan food stalls to vintage clothing markets, museums, music, crafts and creative spaces.

This same spirit of independence can be found across every corner of Coventry, so it's no surprise that our development neighbours a great example - Stoke Bakery. A small business around the corner from The Spires, this third generation bakery produces delicious baked goods using locally sourced ingredients and has quickly become a household name across the city.

Likewise, The Spires also neighbours the Coventry Sphinx Sports and Social Club, a key presence in the local community. Aside from being an event space and bar enjoyed by local residents, it's also home to Coventry Sphinx Football Club.

Established in 1946 and currently playing in the Northern Premier League (Midlands), Coventry Sphinx FC is a prime example of the grassroots sports network that is so vital to the city, providing opportunities for local residents and helping create the vibrant, thriving community atmosphere that The Spires wants to maintain and support.

Thanks to a central location in the West Midlands, Brierley Hill has easy access to several major destinations across the region:

This dynamic city is brought to life by its independent retailers and numerous sporting organisations, which collectively foster a sense of unity and pride among residents, epitomising the community-driven enterprises, highlighting a city rich in culture and communal engagement.
